SOUTH CHINA DEFEATED.

Lose To Batavia By 2 To 1.

CAREFUL STUDY OF TACTICS RESPONSIBLE.

Second Defeat On Tour.

(Special to the "China Mail.")

Batavia, To-day.

Careful study of the tactics adopted by the South China A.A. touring football eleven enabled Batavia to select to inflict a second defeat on the tourists.

It was a close and grueling game throughout, and great enthusiasm was displayed by the large crowd when the local side ran out, winners by the odd goal in three. Wong Mei-shun scored South China's goal.

On their last tour the all-conquering South China eleven beat Batavia by 4 goals to nil, and 2 to nil in the two matches played.

South China have now lost two and drawn two of their seventeen matches whilst on tour in Java. The following are the full results and goal-scoring list:

v. Combined Saigoa	6-1
v. Sadec	6-0
v. A. Combined XI	4-1
v. Bandoeng	3-0
v. Bandoeng	2-3
v. Samarang	4-3
v. Middle Java	8-1
v. Djocia Selected	4-2
v. Samarang	5-3
v. Samarang Europeans	3-3
v. Malang Selected	5-1
v. Soerabaja	4-0
v. Soerabaja	0-0
v. Soerabaja	1-0
v. Bandoeng	3-1
v. Bandoeng	2-0
v. Bandoeng	1-2

Goal-Scorers.

Lee Wai-tong heads the goal-scoring list with 19 goals to his credit, while Lee Yee-sun (13), Chu Kwok-jun (8), Wong Ka-leung (4), Ip Pak-wah (7), Wong Mei-shun (4), Cheng Kwai-leung (4) and Yang Sui-yick added the remaining 41 goals.

CHARGE OF FIRING AT OFFICER.

Chinese Acquitted On Main Count.

"GUILTY" ON SECOND.

Sentenced To Year's Imprisonment.

Lam Lu, Chinese, was acquitted on a charge of shooting at a police officer while attempting to evade arrest, but was convicted and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labour on a second count, that of burglary, when he appeared in Criminal Sessions before Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice J. R. Wood to-day.

The charge of having shot at Sergeant Joseph Harris on July 2, to prevent apprehension, was taken first.

The jury were as follows: — Messrs. V. C. Labrum (foreman), Lo In, E. C. Chin, J. J. C. Bolland, H. A. da Figueiredo, Chak Tai-kwan and A. F. Gladstone.

Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith appeared for the Crown, but the prisoner was not represented.

Addressing the jury in his opening Mr. Whyte-Smith said: "Sergeant Harris will tell you that on July 2, at 4.20 a.m., he was on duty at the junction of French Street and Des Voeux Road West, which is not far from the Sailors' Home in the Western District. He will say he saw the prisoner coming down French Street towards him. As he approached Sergeant Harris noticed that the man's clothes were bulging, and he stopped him and searched him.

He found that the prisoner was wearing four or five suit of clothing. He arrested the prisoner and started off in an easterly direction towards No. 7 Police Station.

Two Shots Fired.

"Now Sergeant Harris will say that he had gone about 10 paces when the prisoner tried to escape, and that in the struggle they both fell to the ground with the Sergeant on top. After one or two seconds the Sergeant heard two shots fired underneath him. He seized the prisoner's right hand which was holding his (Sergeant Harris's) revolver.

"Harris wrested the revolver from the man, and in the struggle the man escaped, and ran away eastwards, but was stopped by an

EMPIRE IS CLOSELY BOUND BY FRESH TRADE TREATIES

RECIPROCAL PREFERENCES TO STOP FOREIGN INVASION

MARKETS SAFE FROM "DUMPING"

CANADA GIVES BRITAIN PROTECTION ON 220 ITEMS OF INDUSTRY.

Twelve trade treaties between British Empire Governments, signed at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference, have the effect of binding the Empire in infinitely closer relationship than has been possible in recent years, give Empire manufacturers and natural resources a preference over foreign competitors and close Empire markets against "dumping" by "outside" nations.

The success of the Ottawa Conference is hailed by British journals everywhere. The far-reaching effects of the trade agreements are unquestionable, and the benefits to be derived from the parties to the treaties are immense.

The most important treaties are those between Britain and Canada and Britain and South Africa. The Anglo-Canadian Treaty must adversely affect Argentine, American and Russian wheat producers; the Anglo-African pact must hurt the American fruit trade with Britain. Foreign competition in the British markets in respect of timber, fish, meat and dairy products, will be largely removed by the treaties. Preferences are almost prohibitive.

Twelve Agreements.

Twelve Empire agreements in all were Saturday signed, seven by the United Kingdom, and the other agreements between Canada and South Africa, Canada and the Irish Free States, Canada and Rhodesia, South Africa and New Zealand and South Africa and the Free State.

An Anglo-Indian trade agreement provides that Indian goods shall receive a preference of ten per cent., India to give seven and a half per cent. preference on certain motor vehicles and on other articles covered by the agreement. The preference will be ten per cent. subject to certain exceptions and reservations. The ten per cent. preference will be later extended to cotton and real silk goods, with certain exceptions. It is arranged that Colonies and Protectorates generally shall extend to India the full benefit of their preferential tariff and India will grant a preference to staple exports of the Colonial Empire, excluding sugar.

Survey of Agreements.

A rapid survey of the text of Ottawa agreements, shows that they provide a continuance of free entry to the United Kingdom after November 15, 1932, of all Empire goods now on the free list, but subject to certain exceptions. The Government of the United Kingdom undertakes the present general ad valorem duty on foreign goods shall not be reduced without the consent of some of the Dominions' Governments.

The most important agreements are the Anglo-Canadian and Anglo-South African. Provision is made to remove the duty on certain foreign goods if Empire producers are unable or unwilling to meet the United Kingdom requirements at prices not exceeding the world prices. The Canadian Treaty provides

WEAVERS TO STRIKE ON AUGUST 27.

500,000 Likely To Be Affected.

London, Yesterday. The General Council of the Weavers' Amalgamation discussed in Manchester the question of an immediate strike but eventually endorsed the decision of the Northern Federation to withdraw labour from all mills on August 27.

The dispute followed the announcement of a general reduction in wages and strike warnings have been posted affecting nearly 500,000 persons. A paralyzing of industry is inevitable. — Reuter.

MOLLISON LANDS IN NEW YORK.

Wild Welcome For British Flier.

AN EPIC FLIGHT.

Flew From Halifax in Just Over 5 Hours.

New York, To-day.

Mr. J. A. Mollison, after a solo westward crossing of the Atlantic, landed at Roosevelt Field at 9.35 p.m., Atlantic Time.

Two thousand persons deserted neighbouring beaches and galloped across the fields, cheering, as they saw the little monoplane landing. Mollison was welcomed by Mayor James Walker, while motor horns and loudspeakers added to the din of the reception.

His flight from St. John took five hours and three minutes.

On Saturday the airman landed near St. John, N.B., and rested overnight, after 24 hours in the air over the ocean. He flew from there to Montreal to attend the Canadian Air Pageant and then proceeded to New York.

He will await his wife, the former Miss Amy Johnson, in New York, and will not attempt a return flight across the Atlantic for a little time. He has made history already by crossing the ocean in a westward flight alone, for the first time; and by being the first to pilot a light plane over the waste of water. — Reuter.

SUNGARI RISES TWO INCHES.

Flood Waters Rise Around Harbin.

SPREAD OF CHOLERA ADDS TO ANXIETY.

Harbin, To-day. The rains have resumed. The Sungari has risen two inches and the flood waters through Harbin are rising simultaneously, causing further anxiety.

Ballasting operations have been resumed on the Harbin bridge — a tremendous structure which spans the Sungari — and it is admitted that one span is in a precarious state.

Cholera continues to spread. — Reuter.

CANTON ALARMED AT CHIANG

Wang Lost Race For Nanking Power.

TALE OF VENGEANCE

Alleged Facts Bared In Political Intrigue.

Declaring that Mr. Wang Ching-wei's resignation from the Presidency of the Executive Yuan recently was brought about through a desire for vengeance upon Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, who had united with Marshal Chiang Kai-shek to curb the Minister's power, certain well-informed circles have disclosed the alleged facts behind the political crisis at Nanking.

Wang, it appears, has remembered with anger the fact that Marshal Chang once united with Marshal Chiang in order to oust from power his two friendly generals, Yen Hsi-shan and Feng Yu-shiang. It was to give General Yen and Feng an opportunity to rise up and fight by his side that Wang recently demanded the resignation of Chang. He expected that this union would be sufficient to crush Chiang at the same time. Up to a point, he appeared to be succeeding. Then he found Marshal Chiang, most powerful of the northern leaders, appointed to the very post which Chang had been driven to relinquish.

Chiang, say the observers, has been too astute for Wang. He will appoint his allies, to the three Eastern Provinces.

The Southwestern Political Council did not want Chang to resign, realising the likelihood of Chiang assuming his post.

There are still chances that the affair may be settled to the liking of the Southwest. There is a chance that Chang will go back to his post, that Wang Ching-wei will go back to serve as Chairman of the National Government, Mr. Lin Sen go to the Legislative Yuan, Mr. Tsal Yuan-pui to the Executive Yuan. If Tsal refuses, Mr. Dai Kwal-tau may take the post. These are Chiang's plans, arrived at following the conference with associates at Kuling.

Wang Shao-hung recently came to Hong Kong on his way to Canton to inquire as to the attitude of the Southwestern Political Council and as to which of the two leaders, Wang or Chiang, that body favoured. Yesterday a very secret meeting was held in Canton. Telegrams were sent to Chiang and others.

It is reported now that they will receive Mr. Hu Han-min in Canton to discuss plans to deal with Marshal Chiang and his new hold upon the nation. At the Third Plenary Session of the Central Kuomintang, in Nanking, entirely composed of Chiang's supporters, it is altogether likely that the Council will be abandoned, and dismissed.

MR. HUGHES COMES BACK.

Cheerfully dressed in a light grey flannel suit, Mr. W. M. Hughes, Australia's war-time Prime Minister, made his first appearance in London recently for eleven years. Now that he is relieved of the cares of office, the passing of the last decade has treated him lightly, and he appears as active as on his previous visit.

How his slight frame has stood the strain of a long and hard life has always been a source of wonder to his staff, whom, like himself, he worked at all hours of the day and night.

His fierce energy so far outlasted that of his retinue while he was at the head of the Government that, I am told, he had eleven secretaries in six months.

ROUND HONG KONG'S CINEMA THEATRES

MAIL REVIEWERS.

"SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK"—
STAR THEATRE.

Buster Keaton's screaming comedy "Sidewalks of New York," now showing at the Star Theatre, provides many laughs for the jaded theatre-goer. From the first reel the picture ascends on a rising note of hilarity, until the climax, which is one of the funniest scenes ever shown on the screen.

The antics of Keaton, the clumsiest man on the screen, are so well-known that they need not be mentioned, and it is sufficient to say that he is funnier than ever. The inclusion in the cast of Cliff Edwards, another famous mirth-maker does much to enliven the theme, while Anita Page provides the feminine role.

Well-filled houses greeted all performances yesterday, a testimony of the picture's success.

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"ARE YOU LISTENING?"—
QUEEN'S THEATRE.

"Are You Listening?" the highly dramatic picture which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre, gives a new and most interesting sidelight on radio-broadcasting.

The story, laid behind the scenes of a broadcasting station, gives William Haines his first dramatic role in which he abandons his more familiar comedy tricks for a compelling delineation as a radio exploiter whose happiness crashes about his ears as the result of an unfortunate marriage.

The plot revolves about a three-fold romance and depicts the various careers of three sisters who come to New York to win fame and fortune. All of them end up in radio work and it is the inside slant on the broadcasting activities combined with the depiction of what goes on in their private lives which gives the picture its dramatic structure. Humorous interludes in the broadcasting station, a jazz party in a New York penthouse apartment and other frolicsome details lend comedy relief to the serious narrative, which underlies the drama.

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"THE SPY"—KING'S THEATRE.

"The Spy" showing at the King's Theatre is a thrilling and well-acted story of modern Russia. It purports to describe the hold of the Tcheka, and the manner in which the secret police spies watch everyone and know everything—playing a cat-and-mouse game with the counter-plotting of the exiles and the supporters of the old regime.

"Mr. X"—head of the secret police is the central figure. The conspirators against the Soviet are children in his hands—he takes them as he likes, and when he likes. The part is beautifully played—a man of power, watchful, incorruptible, pitiless, and yet not wholly unjust, and, Russian-like, he can rise to a dramatic situation and for once show a degree of mercy that is not inconsistent.

The scenes in which a gang of homeless youngsters appear are excellently acted—the youth of Hollywood revelled in the part. One feels, however, that the horrors of the reality of this phase of the Revolution (now a thing of the past) are sentimentalised, and yet, again, one asks, were ever children of the Revolution wholly dehumanised?

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"THE MISLEADING LADY"—
KING'S THEATRE.

If the worst comes to the worst, Edmund Lowe can qualify as a first-rate stevedore. He demonstrated his weight-carrying ability by moving close to a ton of human baggage within a few hours while working in "The Misleading Lady," in which he is co-starred with Claudette Colbert, and which will be the Paramount attraction at the King's Theatre, starting next Thursday.

It is the story of a girl who makes a man propose to her to win a wager, refuses him, and is later kidnapped to become the scorned male's compulsory bride.

OFFICIAL SOURCES.

"DUDE RANCH"—ORIENTAL THEATRE.

Stuart Erwin, Eugene Pallette, Mitzi Green, Charles Sellon and June Collyer. That's the tempting list of prominent screen personalities which Paramount has brought to the cast of Jack Oakie's newest talkie comedy-riot, "Dude Ranch," which is showing currently at the Oriental Theatre.

Erwin was the befuddled sweetheart of Helen Kane in the now famous picture "Sweetie," in which Oakie began his climb to screen stardom. Erwin afterward played bewildered comics in "Young Eagles," "Playboy of Paris," "No Limit" and others.

Mitzi Green started her film career in "The Marriage Playground." She has since provided comedy carryings on his "Honey," "Tow Sawyer," "Finn and Hattie" and "Sippy."

PRINCESS ALICE'S DUTCH VISIT.

Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone are paying one of their regular visits to Holland. When they are in Europe they never omit a summer visit to the Royal palace at The Hague, where they are the guests of Queen Wilhelmina and the Princess Juliana.

This time they travelled direct to Amsterdam, and afterwards motored across the flat canalised country to the Dutch capital.

Queen Wilhelmina lives for the greater part of the year at The Hague. The Royal palace is situated in a busy street and is about three hundred years old. Incidentally the stabling is the finest of any Royal palace in Europe.

There is another Royal palace at Amsterdam—it is built on two million piles—which, in accordance with custom, must be inspected at least once every year.

GETTING LOCAL COLOUR.

Not long since a Scottish friend suggested to Mr. Compton Mackenzie that he should write a play about Bonnie Prince Charlie. He has probably thought over the idea, especially as his sister, Miss Fay Compton, would make an ideal Flora Macdonald.

So far, however, he has only undertaken to write a short life of the Young Pretender, and to gather local colour about his landing in Scotland he has gone to Barra. Islands are favoured places with Mr. Compton Mackenzie. Before he settled down at Beaulieu, in Inverness-shire, he had owned a Channel Island and then a Hebridean Island.

FOOTBALL.

MUI DAI REGISTER SECOND WIN.

Fui Shing Remain Undefeated.

CHINESE SUMMER TOURNEY

Two further matches in the Chinese Summer Football Tournament for Dr. Wu's Cup were decided at King's Park of Saturday with the following results:

Fui Shing 1 Soong Ching 1

Electric Co. 2 Mui Dai 3

This was the Fui Shing's second match, and they have yet to be beaten. Soong Ching commenced the season in good style, but received a set-back at the hands of the Ching Wu. Since then, however, they have defeated Kwok Wah and were consequently expected to win yesterday's game.

The Mui Dai combination have started the season well with two wins, but the Electric Company have not been so successful, having lost three of their four encounters.

The following are the results to date:—

Soong Ching 6 Electric Co. 0

Sam Kwong 4 Kwok Wah 0

A WHOLE WEEK'S NEWSPAPERS IN ONE.

Sensational evidence featured the trial of Cheng Kwok-yau on a charge of procuring the murder of George Fung, at Village Road, at the Criminal Sessions of the Supreme Court before the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, K.C. Leading Counsel are engaged in the case, which is attracting great interest. This has been evidenced by the crowds that have attended the hearing daily. Many Europeans were included among the spectators: Edward Zimmern, one of the principal witnesses for the Crown, underwent a grueling cross-examination by Mr. Jenkin, K.C., as did his associate Sydney Christie. A pardon, applied for by the Crown, at the conclusion of Zimmern's evidence was refused by the Chief Justice, who ruled that the application should have been made before the testimony was given. A conditional pardon was granted the witness Christie. "Breezes" between Counsel were intermittent during the proceedings, which are likely to continue for another week. The Crown reached the first branch of their case on August 17, when they called three solicitors, Messrs. M. W. Lo, E. Davidson, and C. Y. Kwan, as witnesses. The trial is fully reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Mr. Sun Fo, former President of the Executive Yuen, in an interesting interview, bluntly asserted that Mr. Wang Ching-wei, whose recent resignation from the Presidency of the Executive Yuen caused the present political turmoil, although he was supposed to be in a position of authority, was, in fact, governed in all his acts by the power of the Military Party. China, he says, is controlled by the Militarists. The interview is published in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

Mr. Ma Hei-wan, head of the Szechuen Arsenal, who was arrested in Canton on August 8, shortly after he had ordered 16 new aircraft in Hong Kong, was released on August 11, and immediately proceeded to Hong Kong. He was held, he explains, on suspicion of being a Communist agent.

An exclusive interview in which he outlined the facts which led to his arrest and subsequent release is given in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

The Portuguese Company of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps secured the championship at the Corps' annual aquatic sports, held in the V.R.C. bath on the night of August 13. The Officer Commanding, Lieut.-Colonel L. G. Bird, D.S.O., O.B.E., was among a large gathering of spectators who witnessed some excellent sport. The meeting is reported in the OVERLAND CHINA MAIL.

RADIO SPORTS CLUB BEAT PARTHIAN.

Odd Goal In Five. On Marina Ground.

CHAMPIONS HELD IN FIRST HALF.

Playing their first hockey match in the Colony on Saturday afternoon, H.M.S. Parthian were defeated by a strong Radio Sports Club combination by the odd goal in five, in a fast and sporting match on the Marina ground. From the bully off, the Parthian took up the attack, but were repelled time and again by Guest, who was combining well with Gilchrist. The latter, since last season has developed a useful scoop shot, and this he used for most of his passing. Taking up the attack, the Radio forwards combined to a nicety, and good work by Atta Singh on the right wing, saw the ball enter the circle. K. Singh rushing in made no mistake with the shot to give the Radio an early lead.

This setback did not rattle the sailors, exchanges being fair, even for some considerable time, both sides forcing concerns alternatively, but without success. Rington, on the right wing, was responsible for some pretty work, but he was constantly robbed by Johnson, through his slowness in getting rid of the ball.

Half time—Radio 1 Parthian 0. Play in the second half produced exchanges of even a faster nature. The Radio made one change, in their line-up, Johnson replacing K. Singh in the forward line. This, however, did not have any material effect.

Many opportunities for scoring were missed by both sets of forwards in the first fifteen minutes, until taking the ball through on his own Atta Singh got past Attwell, and passed neatly to Gurbachan Singh, who scored with an easy shot. A few minutes later, the Radio added to their score when G. Singh went through with a fine solo effort. After many attacks had been pulled up for off-side play, McRae broke through to score the Parthian's first goal with a fast rising shot that gave S. Singh no chance.

Maintaining pressure, the Parthian came dangerously near on several occasions, but off-side play against Brown spoiled numerous chances. A good forward movement initiated by Rington saw McRae come close in and pass to Barnett, who scored with a ground shot to decrease the deficit. The Parthian looked like drawing level, but a good centre by Rington was spoiled by McRae through knocking-on, after he had placed the ball in the net.

Towards the end, the Radio attack was seen to advantage, Atta Singh, G. Singh and Awta Singh combining with understanding. Many of their attacks however, were repulsed by Dalton at left half. G. Singh missed a sitter when he had only Hogg to beat, and, on another occasion, a hot shot from Atta Singh was deflected for a corner by Hogg.

Order During Stress.

One of the most satisfying features of the period of depression suffered by the whole world since 1929 is the triumph of law and order over the reactionary movements associated with any economic slump. Everywhere outbreaks and riots have occurred but none of the disturbances assumed major or threatening proportions and sanity and reason have prevailed. Labour troubles have not unnaturally been numerous but the spirit of good sense and patience has predominated and saved any ugliness or disaster. Even in Germany where distress and poverty are acute, the people have maintained a calm air of resignation and even the fiery Hitler has as yet provoked no civil riots. Recently the chief concern has been with the United States where law is treated with less respect than in older countries. The bonus marchers' march on Washington threatened serious complications but the danger was finally averted, although not without some loss of life. History shows that America has coped with all situations similar to that existing now. In 1919, when the Russian experiment and the general post-war unsettlement of ideas were inciting the European labour proletariat to efforts at control of the industrial plant, if not of government itself, the American people were challenged by the now almost forgotten "Ejumb plan." By it the unions demanded that railway employees should thereafter control and operate the railways and receive the surplus revenue earned from transportation. But even this seemingly revolutionary programme, though accompanied by what amounted to warning threats on the part of labour leaders, was merely presented as a request for legislation. When Congress almost contemptuously rejected it, railway labour submitted. The proposal was never heard of again. No ground whatever has existed for assuming a change of attitude in this regard even after the present prolonged depression.

The almost complete absence even of demonstrations in the form of strikes against wage reductions is recognized by every one familiar with past history as in some ways the most impressive incident of the times. But the question still remained whether there was not bound to be a popular uprising against the present currency, a demand for silver bimetalism or actual fiat money. That, at least, had abundant American precedent. It had never failed to disorganize the whole political situation in such business depressions as those which followed 1893 and 1897. It might reasonably enough have been expected, considering the severity and duration of this depression, that something at least of this older picture would have been reproduced this year. In Congressional debates it has occurred; outside Congress, the absence of a popular movement of the sort has been the impressive fact. The "currency planks" of the Republican and Democratic conventions, declared distinctly for sound money, and ignored Congressional appeals for currency inflation; the Democratic convention flatly refused to consider planks approving silver remonetization or distribution of new currency issues to veterans. If it is argued that the convention was organized and controlled by conservative leaders of the party, the answer is that this fact in itself proved the lack of interest in such radical proposals. In the Democratic convention of 1896, the fury for inflation was such that the "free-coinage delegates" rejected a conservative chairman proposed by party leaders, and voted down every platform amendment suggested in the way of moderation. There is perfectly good reason for believing that the action of last month's conventions reflected the general attitude of the party's constituencies as correctly as did the action of 1896. Evidence quite unconnected with political conventions has pointed distinctly to the absence of popular enthusiasm over such proposals in sections of the country which went mad over silver inflation thirty years ago. Of a "political uprising" there is not the slightest sign. The West and South have had painful experience during that interval with the gold standard and a soundly administered paper currency, and the lesson has apparently not been forgotten.

A. W. SUMMERS HURT IN PLANE CRASH.

Machine Cracks Up
Near Kai Tak.

HEW THROUGH HOUSE.

Pilot Escapes Without
Cut Or Bruise.

AGED CHINESE INJURED AS CRAFT SWEEPED TO EARTH.

Mr. A. W. Summers, formerly ground engineer here for the L. E. Gale Company, suffered a broken arm and a severe shaking up, and an aged Chinese, on the ground, was severely injured, when a Fairey Gordon fighting plane crashed late Saturday near the Kai Tak Aerodrome. The pilot, Capt. W. E. F. Jones, by his quick judgment at the crisis, probably saved his own and his companion's life, as the machine swept earthwards in an air pocket, through a house and towards a highway embankment. He chose to make a forced landing on soft ground, rather than risk an attempt to climb out of difficulties and possible hit the embankment. The pilot escaped without injury and when rescuers came running, he was standing beside the wrecked machine, surveying the damage. The Fairey Gordon, which was second only in speed to the A. W. XVI amongst the planes at Kai Tak, is a complete wreck, and it is not likely that she will be able to fly again. She arrived three weeks ago, and was assembled by R.A.F. experts stationed at Kai Tak.

The Superintendent of the Civil Aerodrome, Flight-Lieut. A. J. Moss, gave the machine its "O.K." and it had been in the air on several occasions successfully, before the crash.

On Saturday afternoon, the plane was flown twice, the first time for 27 minutes, and the second for six minutes.

Unlucky Spin.

On its third flight, Capt. Jones, with Mr. Summers, circled the aerodrome and then flew close to the hills before turning back. On the return, half the distance had been covered, and the machine was travelling at a speed of 75 m.p.h., when it rapidly lost altitude, through either a strong down-current of air from the hills, or an air pocket.

The speed was increased to 80 miles an hour, but the plane failed to respond, and flew lower and lower. The propeller struck a village hut, tearing the roof to shreds, and the plane crashed on ground that was alternatively bumpy and sodden, a decision rightly made by Capt. Jones, for the machine was heading for a collision with a solid highway embankment.

Striking a bad patch, although the landing was good, the tail rose high in the air, plunging the nose in the ground. It remained in that position for a moment and then fell back on an even keel. The force of the impact had torn the engine completely out of position.

Aircraftmen at the Kai Tak Aerodrome hastened to render assistance. They found Capt. Jones uninjured. Both pilot and observer's cockpits were undamaged, this being attributed to the fact that the engine and propeller are more than twelve feet away from the pilot.

DEAN TO DEDICATE NEW ORGAN.

Instrument Built For
St. Andrew's

The new organ at St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon constructed at a cost of $7,000 by Mr. W. Charlton Blackett, organ builder, Hong Kong, will be dedicated by the Dean of St. John's Cathedral (Very Rev. A. Swann, D.S.C., M.A.) on Sunday, September 11, at the morning service. The Dean will also preach the sermon.

The new organ had three manuals, 22 speaking stops and 11 couplers, as well as accessories. Its full specification, programmes of recitals, and other interesting matter is being published in a booklet to be sold at 50 cents per copy. A copy will be sent to all subscribers to the organ fund. Subscriptions for the organ fund are being received at the fund-raising office, amounting to about $500. It was incurred in the purchase of a new electric motor and other extras. The Organist is Mr. Rupert Baldwin, A.T.C.L.

Bishop Treats Upon Marriage Problem Lack Of Understanding Cause Of Trouble

WOMAN'S PSYCHOLOGY

"Marriage, like other great undertakings, calls for a preparation which cannot be left to nature alone. Many marriages have been wrecked, and others are less successful than they might have been, for lack of knowledge, both physical and psychological, which some married folk never possess and others learn too late."

Thus writes the Bishop of Liverpool in a foreword to "Preparation for Marriage," a handbook prepared by a special committee on behalf of the British Social Hygiene Council and published in mail week by Messrs. Jonathan Cape, Ltd. The book, which is edited by Mr. Kenneth M. Walker, and amongst the contributors to which are Professor B. Malinowski, Miss Camilla Wedgwood, and Dr. H. Crichton Miller, deals with the attuning of married life to the complexities of modern civilisation.

Stress is laid on the psychological differences between men and women.

Many of the misunderstandings that arise between married couples and between those who have not yet married arise from an ignorance of the differences between the sexes.

Woman is as different from man in her intellectual and emotional make-up as she is in her physical line, and the sooner this is understood by those who intend to marry the better.

As a broad generalisation it may be said that the emotions play a far greater part in the life of a woman than they do in that of a man.

A Sixth Sense. The idea of emotional understanding has not yet found a place in conventional psychology, but that a woman may arrive at a truth by a process in which the intellect appears to play but little part is undoubtedly a fact.

It is useless for the man to dispute her conclusions simply because she cannot justify them by means of logic. She knows that what she says is true, and he may argue till he is tired without making any impression.

Men move slowly along the line of reason. Women, like arrows, fly straight to the mark. Sometimes woman may attempt to explain her convictions, but her explanation is generally wrong, for she knows not how she has reached them.

The artist husband married to the barrister wife or the Celtic husband married to the Anglo-Saxon wife might, however, require the same forbearance that is more often called for in the case of the opposite sex.

Family Limitation.

Marriage and the family have not kept pace with changes in the environment of Western Europe, says Mr. Walker, the editor. The form of these institutions has been backed by the religious sanction, and for this reason it has remained to a very great extent rigid. A crisis has now arisen, and because these institutions are unsuited to our present civilisation they run a grave risk of being jettisoned entirely.

Whether we condemn utterly methods of family limitation, or whether we regard them as a means by which a great deal of marital unhappiness may be avoided, we must certainly realise that such limitation must be reckoned with as a live element in our time, an element which allows people to treat sex relationship quite differently from the way in which they were treated only one or two generations ago.

The economic factor is of paramount importance. Our increasingly complex civilisation necessitates a longer period of education and training, and the inevitable result of this is that for a man, at least, parenthood must be postponed. The only alternative to this is a marriage in which the wife helps to support the home and hands over to another her domestic responsibilities.

Another result to which attention is called is that, in this country, where occupations under the Government are largely closed to married women and where the income tax paid by two separate individuals is less than that paid by a man on the joint income of himself and his wife, there appears to be an increasing tendency for two people to live together without being legally married, for purely economic reasons.

News in Brief.

Victoria Gaol and the Laichikok Prisons are declared to be houses of detention under the Vagrancy and Deportation Ordinances.

HOLMES-NICHOLLS WEDDING.

Happy Couple To Visit Japan.

At the Union Church, Kennedy Road, on Saturday morning, the wedding took place of Miss Gwendoline Margaret Nicholls, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Nicholls, well-known local residents, to Mr. Charles Ellwood Holmes, son of Mr. Ellwood Holmes, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, and the late Mrs. Holmes. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. G. Powell, with Mr. G. E. Longyear at the organ.

The bride was given away by her father, and was attended by Miss Betty Nicholls, a younger sister, as bridesmaid. Mr. G. Horridge was best man.

A largely attended reception was later held at 16 Peak Road, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls. The happy couple are going to Japan for their honeymoon.

HER MASTER'S VOICE.

Madrid Town Councillors have found a new use for the official radio—to send private messages to their homes when they are "detained at the office."

During a broadcast from the Town Hall one of the Councillors, as a sort of afterthought, as he was leaving the microphone, exclaimed—"Oh, while I remember, Maria Conchita, the Spanish equivalent of Mary Anne—I shall be home to lunch to-day." The servant who was listening in to her master's radio address, received the message as did thousands of other listeners all over Spain—together with the rounds of laughter and applause that greeted the message from the other Town Councillors gathered in the studio.

ed if Empire producers are unable or unwilling to offer them on first sale to Britain at prices not exceeding the world prices and in sufficient quantities. A maximum of 2,500,000 hundredweight of Canadian bacon and hams will be admitted to the U.K. free of duty. The existing preference to Canadian tobacco will continue for another ten years.

Aid for Britain.
The schedule to be published later sets forth 220 items in the Canadian tariff in respect whereof new or increased preferences are granted to the U.K. The schedule covers a wide range of commodities, and includes numerous items, previously dutiable, and now transferred to the Free list. An unofficial understanding between the iron and steel interests was used as a basis of the tariff adjustment.

Canada undertakes that the tariff shall be based on the principle of protective duties, and shall not exceed such level as will give British producers full opportunity for reasonable competition on the basis of relative cost, economical and efficient production.

Article Twenty-one provides that if the U.K. and Canada are satisfied, mutual preferences may be frustrated through a foreign state's action with regard to any class of commodity, they can prohibit entry of such commodities.

Rhodesian Pact.

The agreement between Britain and Southern Rhodesia grants free entry into Britain of Southern Rhodesian goods, subject to reservation, whereby free entry of eggs, poultry, butter, cheese, and other milk products will be continued three years, Britain reserving her rights thereafter to review the basis of preference on these articles after notifying Southern Rhodesia. The British Government, either by imposing a preferential duty, whilst maintaining existing preference, or bringing the Rhodesian produce within any system for quantitative regulations supplied from all sources into United Kingdom markets, will preserve her rights. Tobacco will enjoy the existing margin of preference as long as the duty exceeds two shillings, half-penny a pound. Britain will endeavour to assist in the marketing of Southern Rhodesian tobacco.

Free of Duty.

The Anglo-South African agreement, between Britain and South Africa, ensures the continuance of entry duty free of South African goods, but while granting free entry of South African dairy produce for three years, Britain reserves the right thereafter in the interests of the British producer, either to impose a preferential duty on South African produce or to bring such produce within a system of quantitative regulation of supplies from all sources into the United Kingdom market.

Britain will introduce legislation imposing duties on foreign oranges, grapefruit, peaches, nectarines, and other fruits competing with South African produce, also a duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem on flat white maize, and two pence per pound on copper. Britain will grant a preference of two shillings a gallon on South African wines not exceeding twenty-seven degrees proof spirit.

Britain undertakes not to reduce the general ten per cent. ad valorem duty on certain foreign goods competing with South African products. Britain will continue the existing preference for South African tobacco for ten years. The Government will make provision for importation of South African mutton, lamb, in any scheme for quantitative regulation of imports. South Africa will introduce legislation securing preferences for a list of British goods as yet unspecified. The Anglo-South African Treaty remains in force for five years, and is thereafter denounceable on four months' notice.

"At the conclusion of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's speech, His Majesty's reply to the Conference's loyal message was read to the delegates on Saturday. Then Mr. Bennett declared the most historic Conference of the British Empire closed, and after brief farewells the chamber quickly emptied.

Most of the British and Indian delegates hurried to catch a special train for Quebec, where they are sailing for home.

Success Achieved.

London, Yesterday.
The success of the Ottawa Conference is now an accomplished fact. Trade agreements have been reached between Great Britain and all the Dominions, with the exception of the Irish Free State, and the last of them, namely that between the United Kingdom and Canada, was initiated in the early hours of Saturday morning. Agreements were formally approved at yesterday's Plenary Session in the Canadian Parliament Buildings and most of the delegates of the United Kingdom left for home afterwards.

In less than one month the Conference has secured the general adoption of a policy of Imperial economic co-operation and has enlarged the channels of trade throughout the Empire by means of detailed agreements. Delegates are understood to be much gratified at the success with which the intricate problems affecting many interests have been solved, and the terms of agreement, it is believed, will be found to coincide with principles enunciated by the Chief of British Delegation, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, at the opening of the Conference. He was then particularly emphatic that the British Empire, great as it is, must not be considered an entity apart from the rest of the world, and that success should be sought in the direction of reducing, rather than raising tariffs.

MOLLISON LANDS IN NEW YORK.

Modified Plans.

London, Yesterday.
Mr. J. A. Mollison has modified his plans and intends to remain some days in the American Continent before attempting the eastward crossing of the Atlantic. Instead of continuing to New York on Saturday from Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, where fatigue caused him to land on Friday, he flew on Sunday to the Air Pageant at St. Hubert Air Port, Montreal. He may remain in New York a week.

Mollison encountered trying conditions during the last 18 hours of his flight, when the weather was particularly bad. His 24 hours' flight was a remarkable feat of endurance, since absolute concentration was required to avoid the dangers of

CROWN ENDS FUNG CASE

Yip Yan-tim for four years an apprentice to Cheung Ku-mo, said that they moved to No. 17, Man Chung Fong in February. The rear engine was let to a particular party, one of whom was dressed as a miser. He recognised Tsui Yum-sham, and when shown a photograph of Ah Lau recognised him as the man who paid $2 as a deposit.

He saw that man again as many as 20 times, he said. Replying to His Lordship witness said they occupied the room for about a month.

Mr. Jenkin—Was the statement first taken from you about three weeks ago?—Yes.

Mr. Sheldon—Was the statement made three weeks ago the first—Yes.

Driver's Evidence.

Chun Cheung, licensed car driver, the Crown's 34th witness, said that on the night of March 24 he drove the witness Tsui Yum-sham in Sam Kwong Road to the junction of Village Road, and later to Seymour Road. He saw many people outside the Yeung Wo Nursing Home, but had no idea of what had happened. Tsui, and two others who subsequently joined him, then left the car.

Detective-Sub-Inspector A. V. Baker testified to finding a loaded pistol in a basket hanging on the wall of the servants' quarters at Blaney Villas. When found, Tsui faintly. The pistol was loaded with three rounds.

Zimmerman Recalled.

At this juncture, Mr. Jenkin asked permission to recall Edward Zimmerman, for the purpose of examining him on a certain part of evidence where he alleged that the accused, when driving the car, cursed Zimmerman, and said—"You have put me on the road to death."

Mr. Jenkin—I put it to you that that is not true.—Zimmerman—it is true.

Are you absolutely certain?—I swear upon the Holy God. It is true. Detective-Sergeant Douglas pitches was then called. He stated that on March 30 he went to Canton on the s.s. Longshan. On reaching Canton, he saw the s.s. Fatsan, Hong Kong bound. Among the passengers leaning at the rails he noticed Zimmerman and Christie, of both whom he had a description.

The Crown's last witness, Chief Detective-Inspector A. N. Reynolds testified to taking charge of the investigations of the murder of George Fung on the night of March 24. On April 4 at 4.30 p.m. he notified the prisoner that he was under arrest for murder, and at 6.30 p.m. he formally charged him. On June 20 he saw the witness Tsui. Cross-examined by Mr. Jenkin on evidence given by Zimmerman that the accused peeped through a shutter at the Kwong Hoi Kee shop, the witness replied that there was no shutter nor were there any indications of one when he visited the premises three weeks before the case commenced.

After referring to certain calls made by Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton and his accused at the Central Police Station, Mr. Jenkin closed his cross-examination.

It was submitted that A.S.P. Murphy should be called to prove the dates.

No Case To Meet.

Mr. Sheldon then said that subject to the calling of Mr. Murphy, that closed the case for the Crown. Sir Joseph Kemp: "Are you going to call any evidence, Mr. Potter?"

Mr. Potter, "No, my Lord, I am going to submit that there is no case to answer."

Mr. Potter then asked His Lordship to free the jury for the afternoon, as he wished to argue his submission that there was no case in law.

Sir Joseph Kemp then informed the jury that the Court would be adjourned until 2.30 p.m. but that they would not be required until 10 a.m. to-morrow, when they must attend unless they received information that they were not required.

leaving his course and drowsiness.

In achieving the first solo crossing from east to west, Mollison made the journey in a smaller machine and with an engine of lower power than have ever been used before on the North Atlantic route, although it was an aeroplane of same type as De Havilland Moth with Gipsy engine, which Squadron Leader Hinkler used in his flight across the Southern Atlantic from Brazil to the African coast.

How Japan Is Facing The Depression

Thousands On Verge Of Starvation In Rural Districts

HUGH FORTUNES MADE AT EXPENSE OF THE COUNTRY

When the Selyukai suddenly and unexpectedly came into power last December they promptly replaced the gold embargo. As a result those who had been speculating in dollars in anticipation of this re-imposition were said to have netted close on Yen 80,000,000 in profits almost overnight.

As these huge fortunes were, in effect, made at the expense of the country at large, close observers were not slow to predict that when the people came to recognise the truth of this, there would very likely be a great outburst of indignation. The prediction proved all too true and, however innocent Mr. Inouye and Baron Takuma Dan themselves may have been, there is little doubt that their assassinations were mainly due to their being regarded as outstanding representatives of those capitalists who had profited so vastly by gold dollar speculation.

Their assassinations, therefore served to confirm predictions made and the prophets of evil proved equally justified in their forecast that the much vaunted Selyukai trade boom, which was expected to follow the re-imposition of the gold embargo, would prove but transitory and fleeting. Far from the country-wide depression being alleviated by the inflationary policy introduced by the Selyukai and extended by the Saito Cabinet that succeeded the Selyukai Ministry in May, conditions have gone from bad to worse and the Government has been compelled to call another extraordinary session of the Diet. This will convene on August 22 to vote appropriations immediately for farm relief.

Under-Nourished Children.

According to investigations recently conducted by the educational authorities, something like 200,000 children of school age are undernourished on account of the poverty of their parents, and thousands of school teachers have been unpaid, or only paid in part, for months past, as the local treasuries are as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

Thousands of men, women, and children in the country districts are said to be on the verge of starvation, reduced to living on roots and grasses, and the prefectural Governors, at their recent conference in Tokyo with the Premier and other Government heads, vied with one another in presenting harrowing details of the distress in their respective areas. Coming, as these reports did, from local officials who are more inclined to matters, the dismal stories from under-rate than over-rate such informal sources that have been current for some time past appear merely to be confirmed.

The Government is pledged to do its utmost to relieve this country-wide distress and is fully alive to the serious possibilities of what may follow if it fails in its difficult task. On the other hand, it cannot vote funds that it does not possess, and there is a limit to the amount of bonds it can float without seriously impairing national credit. The authorities are therefore faced with a serious dilemma and a sigh of relief may well go up if the coming Diet session passes off without disturbance.

Government Rice Monopoly.

Already there are indications of serious tension ahead. On the one hand the Selyukai, despite its representation in the present national Cabinet, is strongly criticising the Government's proposed measures for relief on the grounds that they are inadequate to cope with the desperate conditions prevailing. This same party is forecasting serious developments and threatening to take steps on, its own, if the Government refuses to adopt the Selyukai's own more far-reaching recommendations. These include a Government monopoly of rice, state control of fertilisers, the purchase of 30,000,000 lbs. of summer and autumn seasons, the payment of the salaries of all primary school teachers out of the national treasury, and the abolition of taxes on cultivated lands and on houses in rural fishing and mountain villages.

While the Selyukai threatens the Government with all kinds of gloomy prognostications on one hand, indications tending to confirm them are seen on the other, in the form of a steady growth in the organised movements of farmers in distress, and large groups of petitioners are expected to visit Tokyo from all parts of the country as the opening of the Diet session draws near.

Police Measures.

While sympathising with the motives of these movements the Government is fully alive to the danger of their developing in such a way as to jeopardise public peace and order. Adequate police control is therefore regarded as essential and, at the recent conference of prefectural police chiefs serious discussion took place regarding measures to be taken for the control of both Right and Left Wing movements as well as of organised agrarian agitations.

It is in the rural districts that unrest and discontent are most in evidence, and so ugly has the temper of the peasantry become in many districts that the landlords no longer dare to take action against tenant farmers who fail to pay rent. Most of these landlords are themselves men of little wealth even at the best of times, and as they are primarily dependent on the rents of their tenants, they are now as badly hit as are the tenants.

The fact is that the farmer in Japan is made to pay proportionately more than double in national, prefectural, and town or village taxes what the merchant pays, and more than three times as much as the manufacturer, while the protective tariff of the Government increases the hardships of the agricultural worker and forces the overloaded farmer to carry unproductive urban industry on his back. This is nothing new, but the peasants, impatient at the delay in the much needed reforms, have been becoming increasingly radical for some years past and the growing depression is tending to bring matters to a head. There is nothing anti-monarchical in their agitation, in fact no section of the nation is more loyal to the Throne than the nearly 60 per cent. of the population represented by the agrarian communities.

The peasants, however, are becoming increasingly embittered towards the landlords, the capitalist classes, and against the old-established political parties, which represent the interests of the landlords as against the tenants. Hence their co-operation with the extreme Right Wing reactionaries and nationalists who demand the suppression of landlords, capitalists, and politicians and the return of their lands and property to the Throne for redistribution amongst the tillers of the soil and the proletariat in general.

THE NEW DANCE.

Yet another new dance has invaded the Riviera dancing establishments. It is "El Son," the Cuban dance, which has resemblances to both the fox-trot and the tango. It is chiefly remarkable for the curious exotic music which accompanies it.

Special Cuban instruments have to be incorporated in the dance band. The music is as voluptuous and has as barbaric rhythms as that of the Rumba, the original Cuban dance which has held unrivalled sway all over the Riviera since last winter.

The new dance was only introduced a few days ago, but it has achieved great popularity at all the fashionable open-air "dancing" in Nice, Cannes, and Monte Carlo.

CITY PROTECTS BEACH ROCKS.

Racine, Wis.—Removal of hundreds of tons of rocks from beaches prompted by the craze for open-air bathing, has caused city officials to threaten arrest of persons removing any more of the stones.

STAR FERRY NEARLY CRASHES INTO WHARF

Passengers' Consternation

The 10 p.m. Star Ferry from Kowloon narrowly averted crashing into the wharf while going alongside at Hong Kong on Saturday night. Consternation reigned among the passengers seated on the front of the boat when they saw it heading for the pier front and many rushed to the rails to watch the "bump."

The vessel lost way when only a foot or so from the pier, the order for "full speed astern" being given in the nick of time to avert disaster.

It is thought probable that a strong current was running and the coxswain misjudged his distance.

"FRIGIDAIRE" ON WORLD TOUR

Efficient Mechanism
Bound For Fair.

TO SHOW IN CHICAGO.

The 2,250,000th Frigidaire to be made by the Frigidaire Corporation, Dayton, Ohio, is making a tour of the world on board the S.S. President Pierce, setting a new mark in novel advertising.

When the tour is completed, the refrigerator will have encircled the globe, covering more than 28,000 miles by sea, and will have carried probably more kinds of fruits than any other refrigerator in the world.

On its arrival back in New York on October 11, the apparatus will be taken to the World Fair in Chicago for exhibition next Summer together with the "Visitor's Book" that accompanies it on the tour.

This "Log Book" which is signed by people who go to view the apparatus, contains many famous signatures from San Francisco, Honolulu, Kobe, Yokohama and Shanghai, and during the liner's stay in Hong Kong many others were added.

Proves Efficiency.

As soon as the ship arrives in port, the Dollar Steamship Line in conjunction with the local agents of the Frigidaire Corporation arrange for parties of visitors to examine the refrigerator, and at each port of call rare fruits peculiar to the district are placed in the unit to prove its efficiency.

In each port the staff of the ship also put in a display, generally in the form of a tempting salad.

With the production of their two and a quarter millionth apparatus the Frigidaire Corporation claim to have more than 1,000,000 refrigerators in use than any other maker.

The report that the China Merchants S. N. Co. is negotiating a loan of $30,000,000 from a foreign shipping firm for the reorganisation of the company has been denied by responsible officials of the company.

HUNGER STRIKERS BEG FOR AID

Want More Wages
And Sympathy.

FORM WAILING GROUP.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, August 20.
Hung Chia-ping may never be very famous. But he has got his name in the papers as the first Chinese "chimney sitter."

Hung is a member of the Hunger Strike Committee of the San Yue Towel Factory, which is leading its fellow-workers in a demand for higher wages and less work.

Hung, one afternoon, climbed to the top of a water tower and set there screaming. When asked his purpose he answered that he wished to show his determination to fight his employers' obstinacy to the last ditch. He could not be persuaded to descend, even after some two hours.

Meanwhile his friends had hit upon another idea and were busy organising the "Wailing and Pleading Group," with the intention of kneeling before Chinese businessmen and leaders in politics and public organisations, and begging for economic relief.

Hung only descended from his water tower to join his comrades.

All are supposed to be denying themselves food and drink.

MEDICAL SOCIETY EXPANDS WORK.

Thousands Treated By Charity Staff.

FUNDS ARE DONATED.

The General and Financial Report of the New Territories Medical Benevolent Society, covering the second year of the Society's work shows that 7,887 cases of sickness among the poor of the villages were dealt with during 1931 of which 2,146 cases were treated for septic conditions, and 1,416 for malaria.

This represents a great increase, against 1,310 cases treated from May to December in 1930, and indicates the need of a larger staff of doctors and nurses to cope with the work on hand.

The income for the year 1931, together with a small balance of $1,896.75 brought forward from 1930, totalled $11,815.40, $9,178.34 of which was donated to the Society's various funds.

The expenditure for the corresponding term came to $5,811.90, $1,399.00 being absorbed by salaries and $1,843.10 by travelling expenses for patients and staff. The sum of $1,592.25 was spent on chemicals, drugs and instruments.

A sum of $6,000 represents cash deposited with the Sun Company Ltd.

Shortage of Money.

During the first half of the year acute financial stringency was experienced, a position which was overcome when several generous donors came forward with contributions. An application for an annual grant from the Hong Kong Government was unsuccessful.

The Society have been fortunate to obtain from a generous supporter, Mr. Kien Hung Chiu, a free lease for five years of a twelve-roomed bungalow in Tuen Wan. This will be converted into a hospital, with an outpatient department, a maternity ward, and quarters for a resident doctor, two nurses and a dispenser. The work of repairing and adjustments is nearing completion and the hospital will probably be opened at the end of June, 1932.

At Tuen Moon, another hospital is being built, the main portion of the building fund being raised by the Kai Fong of Tuen Moon, whose kindness in giving the Society material help, shows how much their work is appreciated. The completion of this hospital will mark another stage in the growth of the Society. The Society will extend its work to other villages in the New Territories as it grows and develops, and they hope ultimately to have permanent hospital clinics, including ante-natal, maternity and child welfare, with resident doctors and nurses and visiting specialists distributed in all the larger villages in the New Territories. These hospitals will be the permanent centres from which travelling clinics, known as "small villages," will be sent to the smaller villages, where patients who cannot afford to go to hospital clinics.

SHANGHAI'S MILITARY MENACE

REHABILITATION DELAYED BY FEAR OF HOSTILITIES

MR. MA MAN-FAI'S VIEWS

That the re-habilitation of Shanghai after the recent Sino-Japanese conflict, is being delayed owing to every present menace of the resumption of hostilities, was the view of Mr. Ma Man-fai, general manager of the Sincere Company, who returned to the Colony on Friday after a business trip to the North.

During an exclusive interview with the "China Mail" he said that the existing conditions are not as bad as is generally thought, and that there was a general tendency of an influx into the Western District of the city, which is fast becoming the commercial centre of the town.

While on his trip Mr. Ma visited Nanking, and said that there is a general impression that the city is the city of the future. This impression is supported by Dr. Albert, the well-known town-planning expert, who was recently there on a visit.

Mr. Ma spoke highly of the Shanghai Rotary Club "whose part in the development of China in the future cannot be over-estimated."

"Shanghai is better off than is generally thought," Mr. Ma said, "but repairs to the devastated areas are not making the headway they should owing to the uncertainty of the military operations. There is that incessant feeling that hostilities might be resumed."

"Beneath that feeling however, there is a tremendous sense of optimism, and there is no doubt that if left alone, the matter of rehabilitation will be but a matter of one or two years."

"The most significant situation in Shanghai supporting this optimism is the continued move to the western section of the city. This movement has been going on for a number of years now, and great impetus has been given to it by the opening of the large stores in that district."

"Twenty years ago, the commercial centre of the city was the Bund; but since the Sincere Company's store was first established in 1916, the centre has shown a tendency to move towards Honan Road. Now there are other stores there notably the Wing On Company and Sun Sun Company."

"Property Values Jump.
The value of property in that district has jumped to many times its former value. That fact alone goes to show that the move towards the West is not just a novel development."

"Further impetus to the move, has been given owing to the fact that 10,000 houses were demolished and 600,000 rendered homeless in other districts, and that shelter had to be found, and was found in the western area."

"Shops of the future cannot afford to ignore this flow of population to the West, if they want to keep abreast of the times and not be left behind in the years to come."

Speaking of the political situation in the North at the present time, Mr. Ma said:

"The most alarming situation China has to face now is the imminent invasion of Jehol by the Japanese forces and of the vast territory under the control and influence of the Communist hordes, both organised and otherwise, in the region of the Yangtze and the Yellow River district."

Two Problems.

"If China is to get out of the wood in which she is at present, and which I am sure she will eventually, she will have to solve these two great problems immediately. The Japanese invasion must be resisted, and as far as possible she must present a strengthened front both in and outside of the Great Wall of Shan-hai-kuan."

"During my visit to Peking and Nanking, I noticed several outstanding facts. The political situation in that respect."

"Although I was in Nanking for a few days, on account of the political changes, I did not bother to call on any high officials who might be left there. Most of them were at the time in Shanghai."

"Importance Of Nanking.
The commercial importance of Nanking depends largely on the stability of the country in general and on the permanency of the capital which is at present in Shanghai."

"The commercial importance of Nanking depends largely on the stability of the country in general and on the permanency of the capital which is at present in Shanghai."

120 YEARS NORMAL LIFE SPAN.

Gland - Grafting Can Resist Senility.

VORONOFF OPERATION.

"The normal life of man is 120 years. When a man dies at the age of seventy he is killed!"

Thus Dr. Voronoff, the monkey gland wizard, when he arrived in England and granted an interview in his London hotel.

"Here and there an abnormal human being is born who arrives at the phenomenal age of over 100 years."

"My gland-grafting operation merely reproduces in the normal type of person the resistance to age decay which is found in the abnormal."

"When my time arrives—and I am now 58 years old—I shall, without reluctance, undergo the Voronoff rejuvenation operation at the hands of my brother George, or any other qualified surgeon who happens to be available at the moment."

"I have reserved a monkey named Theodore for the operation, and he is flourishing, apparently unconscious of the fate in store for him."

"I have come to England to ask the Home Office to make an exception to the British anti-vivisection laws so that I can carry out the Voronoff operation in this country."

"The last time I was here Sir William Johnson-Kicks, the then Home Secretary, who later became Lord Brentford, refused my application to perform operations."

"I might add that had he himself submitted to the operation which I advised he would be alive to-day."

Many Operations.
The majority of my personal patients are English. Out of the 1,500 odd rejuvenation operations I have performed, at least 800 of them have been on English people.

There are more than 3,000 surgeons in France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and other countries now qualified to perform my operation, but England steadfastly refuses me permission.

"At my hospital in France I have performed many operations on English people, including some of the foremost doctors in this country."

"They all know that the natural span of life should be longer than 70 years."

"Of course there is your George Bernard Shaw, but he is classed with the impossibles. He does not need a Voronoff operation, being one of the exceptions and apparently enjoying the life of a man 40 years his junior."

WANG RETAINS POST TEMPORARILY.

YANKEES TRIUMPH.

New York, To-day. The following were the results of yesterday's Baseball games:

National League.

Brooklyn Dodgers	3	10	1
New York Giants	9	17	1
Chicago Cubs	2	9	1
Philadelphia Phillies	0	4	0
Cincinnati Reds	2	4	0
Pittsburgh Pirates	0	8	0
St. Louis Cardinals	5	17	2

St. Louis Cardinals	2	8	0
Boston Braves	2	6	0

American League.

Boston Red Sox	3	6	2
Detroit Tigers	1	4	0
Boston Red Sox	2	7	2
Detroit Tigers	4	11	0
New York Yankees	3	3	1
St. Louis Browns	1	3	0
Washington Senators	5	11	1
Cleveland Indians	11	11	0

—Reuter's American Service. The surprise of yesterday's games was the defeat of the Dodgers by the Giants. The Brooklyn side has shown remarkably good form during the last six weeks and has risen from a very modest position in the table to second place. Their lapse yesterday, however, coupled with the Cubs' win over the Phillies, has increased the distance between them and the present leaders. The season is by no means over, however, and the stirring struggle for the title is growing hotter each day.

In the American League the Yankees beat the St. Louis Browns to make practically certain of a chance to become World Series Champions. They are now in a very sound position with the Athletics and Indians offering the most serious menace. It is curious that both last year's title holders, St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics, have fallen away badly. The Cardinals have no hope of contesting the World Series Championship and the Athletics have only an outside chance of reaching their former position of finalists.

Jimmy Foxx, who hit another home run on Saturday, is almost certain of shattering Babe Ruth's record of 46 homers in a season, which is held jointly with Lou Gehrig also of the Yankees. He now leads the field with 45 to his credit with Chuck Klein claiming 37 and Babe Ruth 35.

Home Run Leaders. The following are the individual four-base leaders in the major league home-run parade. Jimmy Foxx, Athletics, A.L. ... 45
Chuck Klein, Phillies, N.L. ... 37
Babe Ruth, Yankees, A.L. ... 35
Earl Averill, Indians, A.L. ... 28

CHARGE OF FIRING AT OFFICER

Indian Guard, at the junction of Eastern Street and Des Voeux Road, which is about 150 yards from the scene of the struggle.

"The man was handed over by the Indian and taken to No. 7 Police Station, where Harris made a report and handed in his revolver."

Fired at Fugitive.

"Sergeant Harris will also say that while the prisoner was running away, he fired one round after him. When the revolver was handed in, the Inspector found that there were three live rounds and three exploded shells in it, which is consistent with the statement made by Harris.

"Now, as a result of the struggle, Harris was wet and dirty and asked permission to go and change his uniform. While changing he noticed certain marks on his tunic which at the time he did not associate with the shooting.

"Later in the day, Inspector O'Connor sent for the tunic, and showed it to the Police armorer, Mr. Scott who is an expert in those matters. The latter made experiments, and as a result he will say that the marks are consistent with the fact that the revolver was fired near the tunic. He will say that more than one shot was fired.

"The prisoner, when cautioned and charged made a statement as follows: 'I did not shoot at him. I intended to escape, and he fired three rounds at me.'

"So as I say gentlemen, that statement is consistent with the firing of three rounds, but it does not explain the marks on the tunic."

Police Armorer Scott testified that he had conducted certain experiments, as a result of which, it was his opinion that the rent and smudges on Constable Harris's uniform were caused by the firing at close range of a police revolver.

Denies Shooting.

The next witness for the Crown was the Court Interpreter attached to No. 7 Police Station. He said that having cautioned the prisoner upon his arrest, the latter had then made a signed statement to the effect that whilst attempting to escape from the custody of Constable Harris, the latter had fired three rounds from his revolver, and that he, prisoner, had not fired a shot.

This concluded the case for the Crown, and the jury retired to consider their verdict. After seven minutes of deliberation, they returned a verdict of "Not Guilty."

The Crown thereupon proceeded to charge the prisoner on the second count of the indictment, namely, burglary and shop-breaking. To these charges, the accused pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment with hard labour.

JESUIT FATHERS TO CONTROL WAH YAN.

Well-Known College Changing Hands.

PRINCIPAL RETIRING.

Wah Yan College, one of the best-known institutions in the Colony, with an enrolment of 600 boys, will pass into the administrative hands of Jesuit Fathers at the end of the year. Its present principal, Mr. Peter Tsui, is retiring.

"Mr. Tsui has made arrangements for the continuance of the College by its transference to the Jesuit Fathers. The College will continue under the direction of Mr. Tsui to the end of the year. In September, however, one wing of the boarding department will be set aside for five members of the Order. They will join the teaching staff and familiarise themselves with the actual conditions of the school and its work, before taking over the management at the beginning of the holidays in December," Father G. Byrne, S.J., announces.

"The College buildings will remain, as they have always been, the property of the Catholic Mission, under Bishop Valorta. They will continue to be rented from the Mission by the Jesuits, as they are at present rented by Mr. Tsui."

At the end of December Fr. R. Gallagher, S.J., Ph.D., becomes Headmaster, the legal Correspondent being Fr. G. Byrne, Procurator of the Order in Hong Kong. It is understood that, with a few exceptions of Masters who have already severed connection with the school, the present very efficient staff of Chinese Masters will be retained.
